ST. LOUIS — The Sheldon and KDHX are pleased to welcome back The Milk Carton Kids, Wednesday, November 4 at 8 p.m. in the perfect acoustics of the Sheldon Concert Hall. The concert is part of The Sheldon Sessions series, an on-going collaboration between The Sheldon and KDHX.

Following the breakthrough success of their debut album, The Ash & Clay, the duo of Kenneth Pattengale and Joey Ryan have established themselves as one of the most significant contributors to the modern folk scene. They have been recognized with a Grammy nomination for Best Folk Album, and were awarded Group of the Year at the 2014 Americana Music Awards. The duo has built a devoted following with the simple purity of their music and their charming stage-presence and deadpan humor. While their most obvious musical inspiration is the classic folk revival sound of twin acoustic guitars and matching harmonies, the band both expands and contradicts that rich legacy with highly inventive guitar lines and powerful, socially conscious lyrics.

The Milk Carton Kids have toured with a host of established acts (Old Crow Medicine Show, Punch Brothers and more), appeared on NPR's Tiny Desk concert series, and earned acclaim for their recent tributes to Johnny Cash and Emmylou Harris. They return to The Sheldon stage with music from their new album, Monterey.
